COVERNOR PIERPONT'S POLICY

Alexandria Constitution to be Made

That of the State,

Our Richmond Correspondence.
RICHMOND, Va., May 29, 1866.
JEFF. DAVIS TO HE REMOVED TO WASHINGTON. Jeff. Davis, the distinguished State criminal confined ext Fortress Monroe, having been duly indicted by a grand jury, will be removed from his place of confinement in the Fortress to Washington on Tuesday next, the 30th ntion, not, however, without the observance of every on that shall avail to make the transit a safe one. Mr. Davis takes very little food and seems just now unusuate. He has been made aware of his indict-

In his personal appearance and manners he riness great dignity of character, and he is both well ceived and thought of by all classes. Some doubt expressed by the leading men of the State as the expediency or propriety of the Governor's adering to what is known as the "Alexandria constitution. The Governor is understood to be pledged to the aintenance of the integrity of this paper for the resent, at least, and has so expressed himself to a number of gentlemen who have called upon him to express ear anxiety on this subject. My own opinion is, withat expressing any judgment, that a new constitution ill ultimately be framed, from which the alleged obscitionable features of the Alexandria document will be uninated.

will ultimately be framed, from which the alleged objectionable features of the Alexandria document will be tween Governor Plerpont, the distinguished genitemen of his Cabinet and the military authorities. His Excellency has received every attention, and has been freely and generously allowed every honor at the hands of the commanding generals. Major General Belieck, Major General Devens, Major General Turner, Major General Gibbon, General Kelton, General N. M. Curtis, Chief of Staf of the Department of Virginia, have severally paid their respects to the Governor, and have spoken words of oncouragement to him.

This day, in the calends of May, eighteen hundred and sixty-live, will witness the amspicious opening of a new and progressive era in the history of the ancient and hitherto nonored commonwealth of Virginia. Virginia, whose past traditions are so redolent of glory, in connection with the names of Washington, Jefferson, Henry, Mason and an almost endless line of wise, pure and existed patriots, who, by their wisdem, courage, purity, elequence and immortal statemanship, assisted by the lofty military prowess of the Father of His Country, found the true equitation of the first great American Revolution, on the third of November, seventeen hundred and eighty-three, the day of the dista great and patriotic savage, whose object was the permanent overthrow of British arrogance and power on this continent.

Just now has the same Virginia—elderly but benign mother of States and Presidents—after a most unprecedented struggle, whose object was the permanent overthrow of British arrogance and power on this continent.

Thousand Persons Take Allegiance.

(From the Richmond Republic, May 26.)

Up to last Monday night one thousand one hundred and forty three persons, comprising most of the leading and influential citizens of Fredericksburg and the surrounding country, had come forward and taken the oath of allegiance to the United States; and the Provest Starchal at Fredericksburg had granted paroles to seven bundred and fifty-four Confederate soldiers. All of the city officials have taken the oath.

Affairs at Danville—The Negroes Return-ing to their Work, &c. (From the Richmond Republic, May 26.)

[From the Richmond Republic, May 26.]
From gentlemen who left Dapville Tuesday morning we have late intelligence from that section of the State.
Peace and quiet reign supreme throughout that country.
Under wise regulations, adopted by the military authorities, the negroes are returning to their homes and to work. The wheat, corn and out crops are most promising, a fact which we chronicle with the more satisfaction since the settling down of the negroes to work insures their being properly cared for and harvested.
The recent heavy rains extended as far as Danville; and being unaccompanied with hail, as was the case in the country north of Richmond, were most acceptable to the farmers.

Repairing the James River and Kannwha Camal—The Government Aiding in the Prosecution of the Work. &c.

[From the kichmond Republic, kay 25.]
The James river and Kanawa Canal, our readers will be gratified to learn, is to be thoroughly repaired and put in working order. At a meeting of the Board of Birectors, held yesterday, it was determined to employ at once four hundred laborers and fifty mechanics, and begin the repairs immediately.

As the company is without ready means, the United States government, with marked liberality, has agreed to furnish the necessary rations, tends, seals; and materials, and guarantee the payment of the wages, thus leaving no room for doubt as to the pay of those who are willing to earn a Houlibood.

There are now in the country hundreds of unemployed whites and blacks without means of subsistence, and the work now offered is a blessing to them. Surely they will need no additional stimulant to induce them to seek employment on this canal, and thus benefit themselves and the state at large.

The James River Canal is now one of the most important improvements in the State, and should be put in working order with as little delay as possible. The government, seeing the necessity for it, has kindly extended a helping hand, and the directors are pledged to spare no efforts to have it open to trade as soon as the necessary repairs can be made. We therefore hope that not many days will elapse ere the boats are making their accustomed trips to the head of the improvement, thus putting Richmond in communication with the interior of the State. Let the railroads and canal get to work regularly, and Virginia will not be long in recovering from the shock of war that has swept over her whole surface and lamaged her fair proportions. By reference to the advertisament of the chief engineer, parties seeking employment will know where to apply.

Atd for the Promotion of the Agricultural Interest—Measures to Supply Farmers with Implements, &c. [From the Richmond Republic, May 26.]

We have had the pleasure of an interview with Rev. Lyman Abbott, President of the American Union Commission of New York and Boston, and Rev. Dr. H. A. Miles of the same commission, who are seeking to establish an enterprise which will be heralded with the greatest satisfaction by the agricultural community of Virginia. The object of the commission is to establish in this city a warehouse for agricultural implements of every description, as well as for seeds, to be sold at very low rates, so as to supply the great needs of our people. In the case of worthy persons, entirely unable to pay the small price which will be saked, the implements and seed will be furnished gratuitously. Further information on this subject can be obtained from Measrs. H. L. Kent, George Gwathmey, C. D. Yale and Samuel Ruth, of Richmond, or at this office. We know of no more laudable to us by the Commissioners, marked at once by the greatest liberality and delicacy, has impressed us with a high sense of their character as gentlemen and patriots.

New Steamship Line.

We are glad to see, among the many other new enterprises of the day, that our ocean carrying trade is not to be entirely abandoned without efforts to retain it. We are prompted to this belief by the knowledge of the Steamship Company, whose purpose it is to run a semi-monthly line of first class steamers between this port and the port of Vera Cruz, touching both ways at Havana. The projectors and shareholders of this asso-ciation are of the oldest and wealthlest merchants, ship-

Havana. The projectors and shareholders of this association are of the oldest and wealthiest merchants, ship-owners, machinists and shipbuilders of the city. Their vessels are built expressly for the trade, and two of them—the Manhattan and Vera Cru2—are already launched, and lie at present at the pier of the Morgan Iron Works, receiving their engines, machinery, &c., and superb specimens of Yankee marine architecture they certainly are.

Extending our inquiries, we were informed at the office of the company, No. 28 Broadway, that their vessels were sidewheel steamers, with three decks each; beam engines, sixty-five inches by eleven feet; seven hundred and fifty horse power; length, two hundred and thirty-five feet by thirty-six feet beam; depth twenty-six feet; one thousand five hundred tons burden, with slowage soom for one thousand two hundred tons of freight; fitted to carry one hundred and fifty first class passengers, and so constructed as to be quickly changed for the comfortable conveyance of five hundred steerage or second class passengers; speed twelve miles per hour. The first of the vessels—the Manhattan—is advertised to leave for Havana and Vera Cruz on the 18th of June, and the second on the 1st of July. The hulls are built by Messrs. Lawrence & Foulkes; the engines and machinery are furnished by George W. Quintard, Esq., of the Morgan Iron Works. The President of the company is Charles A. Whitney, and its Secretary J. W. Pomeroy, Esqs., both for many years prominent members of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

With such material in ships, owners and managers, we cannot well see why the American and Mexican Mail Steamship Company is of more to the land, which its large investments of money to open up a new path of commerce eminently entities it to.

Sixth Annual Commencement of the

The sixth annual commencement of the Cooper Union took piace last evening, in the presence of as large an audience as the spacious lecture hall of the Institute could by any contrivance accommedate. Peter Cooper, Esq., the worthy founder of this noble institution, occupied the chair, and with him on the platform we noticed Edward Cooper, W. G. Hunt, A. S. Hewitt and W. C. Verplanck, Esqs. A large platform was erected for the accommodation of the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the exercises of the evening, which were commenced by the overture to Tancred, by Dodworth's band. Music, vocal and instrumental, orations, &c., comprised the exercises of the evening. A duct, arranged for two pianos, received a well merited encore, as also Reenecken's beautiful ball, 'Thou art so near and yet so far,'' rendered with a well merited encore, as also Reenecken's beautiful bal-lad, "Thou art so near and yet so far," rendered with remarkable swectness by Miss Letts, a fair member of the Orpheonist class.

The annual report was read by Mr. W. G. Hunt, from which it appears that the Union is in a mest prosperous condition as regards funds. The receipts for the year ending January, 1865, including a balance from previous year of $4,140 92, have been $34,177 17, while the ex-penditure has been $31,647 76, showing a balance in hand of $2,522 41. The number of female students in the School of Art during the year has been two hundred and seventy-two. The number of pupils attending the night classes has been one thousand five hundred and twenty-six. After the reading of the report, Mr. Cooper, the President, presented medals to Messra. Frees and Bosch, who had completed their five years course of in-struction. In conferring those marks of distinction Mr. Cooper made a few appropriate remarks. Messra. Corbett, Scott and Hayson were the recipients of similar honors.

The proceedings terminated with a parifotic song, the "Union Forever," by Mr Jewest and the Orpheonists. The exercises of the evening reflect great credit on the pupils and professors, and it is to be hoped the ecsaion about to be commenced will be as numerously attended as that just pest, and that the youth of our city will show their appreciation of an institution which has not its equal in any country in the world.

LETTER PROM THE PERUVIAN MINISTER.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.
You have received intelligence from San Francis

California, that the filibustero Williams, who proposed to seize the Peruvian steamer Colon, now lying at that ommerce in the Pacific, had explained to his associates in the enterprise "that the seizure of the Colon was un-derstood between the Mexican and Peruvian authorities, and that the show of force in making the seizure was necessary to acquit the latter of any blame in the matter."

necessary to acquit the latter of any blame in the matter."

As the representative of the government of Peru in the country, I hereby declare, in the most solemn manner, that if Williams ever made any such statement it was a gratuitous faisehood; for my government, perfectly understanding its rights and its duties, and highly appreciating the cordial and friendly relations which units it to that of this republic, has not, and never would, counive at any scheme having in view the violation of the laws of the United States, or of any other nation, and much less would it lower the dignity of Peru by associating its name with any undertaking conceived in the manner and for the purposes of that which was organized and directed by the aforesaid Williams. I am, sir, your most obedient,

JOSE ANTONIO G. y GARCIO, Minister of Peru.

After adverting to the responsibility of his action in calling the Assembly together, and to the trying circumstances under which they met, he admits that the war is ended and with it the power of the confedis ended and with it the power of the control of the Southern States; and he expresses entisfaction that his humble part was permits additive to his State and obedience to her laws. He admits that the Southern States will return to the Union, and says the circumstances surrounding the result of military power, will render reorganization the people. He alludes to the unprecedented unanimity with which the people of Mississippi, in 1861, through connection with the Union; and says this action was not hasty, but the subject had occupied the minds of the people for many years. Causes which would have justified revolution impelled them to secession. With no purpose of aggression, but for government and liberty, and which have by the exhibition of their power astonished the world, cannot now desire the abasement and destruction of the people whom in the contest they found equal to themselves in continuous of detestation. The period too at which they occurred was most inauspicious for the fortunes of the country; for they have inflamed the minds of the North-ern people, and though right thinking men, when embittered feelings have passed away, will not attribute them to the Southern people, yet for the present they may retard an adjustment of our laws and social institutions on such a basis as will most speedily give quiet and repose to the people and country. It is alleged that the immediate parties engaged in the assassination have implicated a number of gentlemen well known for their adherence to the cause of the South. Among them Jefferson Davis and Jacob Thompson of that State. This implication is repelled by Gov. Clarke on account of the purity of the private characters, personal integrity, honor, truth, and uniform Christian merality of the said gentlemen. But he says if the evidence justifies the charge, their names and characters will be tarnished forever.

PEPPERY SPEECH OF WENDELL PHILLIPS.

Surrender of President Johnson to the Rebels.

Repudintion of the Public Debt the Only Way to Save the Country,

The New England Anti-Slavery Convention met toin the Melodeon, and was very fully attended. The J. F. Sargeant was chosen president. Wendell Phillips, as chairman cothe Bu tee, reported a resolution to the effect that it is the settled optnion of the Convention that the resonstruction of the opinion of the Convention that the reconstruction of the robel States, without negre suffrage, is a practical surrender to the confederacy, and will make the antislavery proclamation of the late President, and even the expected amendment of the constitution, utterly inefficient for the freedom and protection of the negre race.

Mr. Phillips supported the resolution in a vigorous speech. He contended that slavery was shoulded, and that the reconstruction policy of the administration, as set forth in the proclamation for the reconstruction of North Carolina, was an absolute surrender of the helm of the Union into the hands of Alexander H. Stephens and his coworkers. Reconstruction on that basis was a practical fraud upon the North. Every life and overy dollar they had spent had been stolen from them. There was but one way in which the people could stiff-hold the helm of affairs, and that was a declaration of repudiation constantly oppose every step of reconstruction that did not place the negro upon an absolute equality and level with the white mag. There were but two parties in the country—the every man who supported the North Carolina proci tion was a Davis' sycophant. Better, far better, would it have been for Grant to have surrendered to Lee than for President Johnson to have surrendered to North Hon. Amasa Walker followed in a full endorsement of Mr. Phillips' speech.
